To whom it may concern:

I am writing to inform you of my recommendation for Alpine Communication's services. I started a business almost two years ago and have utilized Alpine's fiber internet for a few years now. My business requires high speed internet to ensure the best customer service. I am a graphic designer and many of my clients live out-of-state. In order for me to provide uploaded video and live-streamed services such as screen sharing of on-demand jobs, Alpine's fiber internet is the only service I can use to keep my clients happy and returning.

I am very grateful to have such high quality internet services in a rural area. I chose to live in Elgin because of the rural community lifestyle, but still rely on competitive internet services to keep my technology-based business booming. I plan to increase technologically advanced companies within my rural surroundings and depend on Alpine's consistent and courteous service to build others up. I am so appreciative of the service that Alpine provides - not only for internet, but for innovative ideas.

During these uncertain times, I know that Alpine will help support my business and family. I am currently planning on homeschooling my two young children. Alpine's services will be able to handle the draw from my business and that of my children's streaming and online learning habits. I hope to continue to improve my technological innovations alongside Alpine as I know that the future shines brightly with them.
