Reasnor Telephone Company, LLC has served the Reasnor, Iowa telephone exchange, providing rural communication services since it took care and control of the Reasnor Exchange in 2004. Reasnor is located approximately 45 miles east of Des Moines, Iowa and about 10 miles South of Newton, Iowa. The Reasnor exchange includes "Extended Area Service To: Kellogg, Killduff, Lynnville, Searsboro, & Sully"¹. Reasnor provides local communication services and DSL broadband internet services to rural residential and commercial consumers, including the entire community of Galesburg, IA in the Reasnor Exchange as defined through the Iowa Utilities Board (IUB). Aureon is the fiber network in Iowa providing voice, data, and video services to its member companies via fiber. Reasnor in 2021 will be installing a second fiber connection to Aureon to complete a dual-fiber connection to Aureon through Newton, Iowa and Grinnell, Iowa to provide greater security for the providing of internet services and will utilize this connectivity in its deployment of its Town and Rural Fiber to the Home build out.
