

Demonstrated Experience

Incorporated in 1957, today, Modern Cooperative Telephone Company (MCTC) provides telephone and Internet service to approximately 720 residential and business customers in five rural Iowa exchanges including Keswick, Kinross, Millersburg, South English, and Webster. MCTC is in the third year of a large FTTH construction project, replacing our aging copper plant. MCTC prides itself in providing superior customer service to our members including delivering access to the best telecommunications technology available.

Modern Cooperative prides itself for its great customer service, 24-hour response and you will always talk to a live person.

MCTC's key personnel provide a tremendous level of experience to the proposed Millersburg – Rural East FTTH Project. Together, they bring nearly 30 years of telecom/broadband industry experience to the table. The management of MCTC includes General Manager/COO Mitch Glunz and Assistant General Manager/CFO Brenda Bowman. This experience ensures the success of the proposed Millersburg – Rural East FTTH Project. The Board of Directors includes a President, Vice President, and Secretary/Treasurer as well as 8 board members and 1 at-large member. Resumes for key staff have been included.

MCTC is a financially viable organization with the capability to meet all financial requirements outlined in this project. MCTC has a history of continued business success and meeting financial obligations within the communities they serve.

Modern Cooperative has started a self funded expansion project of FTTH to the areas of Coyote Run, Rhino Ridge and surrounding homes in the ITQ 69 area. MCTC started engineering this project in February of 2023 and has since started construction. Completion date is expected to be November 30th, 2023.
